American Airlines requires that your new flight depart on the same calendar day and follow the same routing as your original ticket to qualify for this price. An agent can check the "E" inventory class to see if a seat is currently open for your desired departure time tonight.

It prevents the frustration of standing in a physical line only to find that the price has increased while you were waiting your turn.

When you call [📞+1→ 888→ 429 → 3088], make sure to ask about the specific ticketing hours for the counter at your departure city to avoid arriving at a closed desk.
